

Sarah Coombes	Co-opted Governor
---------------	-------------------

I am a Lead Transformational Change Communications Manager at Barclays Bank plc where I have spent all (34 years) of my working life and still work today.

Over this time, I have held various roles but for the past 15 years I have been responsible for leading the delivery of the communications (to employees) on complex transformational (operational/organisational change) projects which can sometimes impact thousands of colleagues. So, understanding my audience(s) is a key skill.

Although I have no previous work experience in education, I am keen to bring all of the skills and experience I have (from working at the bank) to Deyes High to help improve the experience for its students (current and future), teachers, support staff and for anyone connected with the school.

I am very excited to be joining the governing body at Deyes High as it's something that will take me out of my usual 'day to day' routine and will challenge my usual way of thinking.
